Today's sale saw prices remain firm to slightly dearer for most crossbred types. Good inquiry for crossbred hogget wool saw the main demand on the finer edge. Mid micron types had a mixed day with 25.0 and 28.0 micron on average 25 cents cheaper as were 30 micron. The Merino market was slightly erratic across all categories except the coarser types which generated good support. Prices still remain very good. With hogget wools starting to come through buyers were selective on their purchases.
