Prices eased for all micron categories at today's sale. The subdued interest from China in the finer crossbreds was of concern. Half-bred and Corriedale types were very erratic with 24 to 27 micron suffering most. The majority of these Microns were made up of Hogget types where Exporters were very selective. Another good selection of Merino on offer also saw the market ease, although levels still remain very good. Australia has had a week of price correction which saw our market follow, although some Microns were stronger than the Australian market.
